Brainstorming sessions can be held as strategic planning sessions at any stage of research development. They can be held to brainstorm about the directions of a proposal or how to respond to a Program Announcement. They can be held in stages so that more than one think tank is held, leading to a proposal. Each session will contain active researchers to help PI brainstorm. Contact the Associate Dean for Research to arrange a brainstorming session.